The entire system is renewed and invigorated. It improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, gives refreshing sleep, and restores flesh and strength. As a soothing nervine, it allays and subdues hysteria, spasms, and all the nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It's the only guaranteed medicine for women. It does what is promised - or it asks nothing. It gives satisfaction, in every case, or the money paid for it is refunded.

That's the way its makers prove their faith in it. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to derange digestion; a legitimate medicine, not a beverage. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system.

VIRGINIA REPUBLICANS.

Interesting Speeches at the Eighth Anniversary of the Association Here. Arnold acted as master of ceremonies, and after calling the meeting to order introduced the chairman of the association, Mr. J. H. Harrison, who made a pleasant little speech of welcome and read a brief outline of the history of the organization since its beginning.

THE PRESENT SITUATION. At the conclusion of his reading Mr. Harrison introduced Mr. Geo. Pryor of Virginia, who gave an interesting account of the present situation of Virginia politics and said that the greatest problem of the day was that of politics, and especially was this true to the colored man. It was ungenerous to practically ignore 1,250,000 voters in the matter of dispensing 130,000 offices. He said there was a sufficient colored republican vote in either New York or Indiana to turn the political scales either way.

There was no radical difference between the professions and the practices of the two great parties as regarded the colored race, and there was no moral question nowadays in politics.

It would be a proud distinction to see a colored man in the cabinet, but to see the race highly elevated in morals, in property and in education was by far the grandest distinction.

Mr. Pryor was followed by John M. Langston, who made an earnest appeal to the association to organize and increase its membership to aid in 1892, as it did in 1888, to carry Virginia for Harrison, Morton and Langston. The sneaker made reference to the President's speeches at Laurel Hill and Paterson, N. J., and said that such sentiments as Mr. Harrison had expressed should adonate the said that Marine Band concerts a week, one on Wednes-day and one on Saturday. For some reason day and one on Saturday. For some reason Gen. Williams said that it was at his own sugday and one on Saturday. For some reason even this meager boon seems to be in a fair way of being denied, for the "4 o'clock Marine Band matinee" on Saturdays can hardly be called a "public concert," nine-tenths of the Washington public being debarred from attendance at that, for them, unseasonable hour. The Wednesday evening concerts seem to be indefinitely postponed. Two years ago, under indefinitely postponed. Two years ago, under would be tantamount to a confession of guilt as SBURY PARK. N. J.

Three Badly Frightened Boys.

There were three badly frightened boys in the Police Court yesterday. They were Walter Brown and his brother Clinton and Joseph Calhoun. The boys were charged with the larceny of a toy bank from the house of Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald in Georgetown. The brothers were nine and ten years old and Calhoun was ten years.

Mr. Clagett explained that the boys were not charged with housebreaking on account of their age.

The clock was shattered, but the steeple was not injured.

A storm passed over St. Lonis at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, and did considerable damage to wires of all kinds. Telephone poles were blown across the street railway tracks and caused a cessation of that traffic and a great inconvenience to those living in the suburbs. Travel on several of the electric lines was suspended for several hours. Many shade trees were destroyed and some little damage done to buildings on the outskirts of the eity. There were three badly frightened boys in their age.

The house of Mrs. Fitzgerald was entered modicine.

Judge Miller lectured the boys and told them that there was a string tied to them and if they were not careful the string would tighten. They were released on their personal bonds.

THE BACCARAT SCANDAL. Lunching in the Court Room-Gen. Williams

The Prince of Wales glowered when the bold juryman stopped him by his question when he was upon the point of leaving the witness box being tossed aside. This is the advantage pre. at the termination of Sir Charles Russell's crossexamination in the trial of the baccarat case, as narrated in THE STAR's London dispatches yesterday, but toward the end of his answers to the juryman the prince smiled benignly upon the entire jury. It was a picnic for many in every sense of the word.

At about 2 o'clock the lord chief justice returned alone, having apparently left the Prince of Wales, who had lunched with him, in some place of safety, or else he had seen the heir apparent on his way back to Marlborough House.

GEN. WILLIAMS' STORY.

Owen Williams, who was the next witness, related the now well-known incidents connected with the Tranby Croft baccarat games, the general's testimony, in the main, connected with the Tranby Croft baccarat games, the general's testimony, in the main, concurring with that given by the witnesses who had previously been examined. Gen. Williams, who is a stalwart "militaire," held himself upright in the box as on parade. His line of evidence left the impression that Cumming's friends did what honorable men could do to assist him. He said: Our friendship has existed twenty years and continued unimpaired till September. I first heard the suggestion of cheating on the evening of Septemgestion of cheating on the evening of September 10, when Lord Coventry saked me to go to his room, where he met Mr. Green and four others. Mr. Green made a statement, which the witness afterward recorded, showing how others. Mr. Green made a statement, which made reference to the President's speeches at Laurel Hill and Paterson, N. J., and said that such sentiments as Mr. Harrison had expressed should endear him to every colored man in the land. He also referred to the President's nessage, and said that what he had said in that document showed he was the colored man's true friend. The speaker appealed to the colored voters to stand by the mon who had been their friends.

After the speeches refreshments were served by the lady members of the auxiliary association.

The secretary, Mr. F. D. Lee, read letters of regret from the Secretary of the Navy and others.

HISTORY OF THE ASSOCIATION.

This association was organized in 1883 under the presidency of Mr. Matthew Trimble, the present assessor of this District. The purpose of the organization is to encourage and keep up an interest with the many voters temporarily residing in the District who are from the state of Virginia, and to aid the republican party by forwarding each man to his voting precinct on all elections.

and to an admission that it was true that he had cheated at cards. This, said Gen. Williams, was a statement that he, the witness, concurred in, but he told Sir William that it was his only hope of escape, as it was impossible to rebut the evidence which existed against him.

On cross-examination by Sir Charles Russell Gen. Williams said that the accusation against his friend Cumming came with a horrible shock. On the second night (September 9, 1890,) of the baccarat playing at Tranby Croft he, the witness, heard the Prince of Wales tell the plaintiff that he (Sir William) should keep his hands further back, because he (the prince) could not see the stakes. The general, continuing, said that he and the others who were present at Tranby Croft on September 8, 9 and present at Tranby Croft on September 8, 9 and 10 last told the plaintiff that signing the docu-Mount Vernon Commandery, No. 440, U.O. A SENSATION IN COURT. This last piece of testimony caused another and most decided sensation in court, the gayly dressed ladies whispering and chatting over it for several minutes. When Sir Charles Russell asked Gen. Williams why he continued to address the plaintiff as "Dear Bill" after the baccarat disclosures the witness explained that the plaintiff was suffergrief.
